FRIDAY FEBRUARY 27, 1874.

Amendments to the Gaslight Law.

A special meeting of the Township Committee was held on Friday evening of last week, to consider amendments to the gas law. There were present Messrs. Beach, Unangst, Sanxay, Yereance and Ward, as well as several other citizens. Mr. Beach read two amendments which had been prepared. The first one provided that no lamps in future be erected or lighted except upon the petition of a majority of land owners upon a street. The second restricted the assessment for erecting and lighting lamps to real estate property.

A discussion took place upon the question of sending these amendments to the Legislature. Mr. Sanxay said he was in favor of them, but was opposed to the action of the Town Committee in having them sent to Trenton without calling a public meeting of the citizens.

Mr. Beach considered the amendments necessary to save the town from an impending burden of taxation, and was willing to take the responsibility without summoning a public meeting, as there was not sufficient time to do so.

Mr. Unangst was opposed to the amendments, because they were prejudicial to the interest of residents upon the streets now lighted.

Mr. Yereance thought as we had of late tried to economize, it was foolish to go to the expense of hiring a hall for a public meeting. He favored the amendments, and hoped they would go to Trenton at once.

A vote was taken, Messrs. Yereance, Ward and Beach voting aye and Unangst and Sanxay nay.

A motion made by Mr. Sanxay to call a public meeting for Tuesday evening, Feb. 27th, was lost.

Mr. Ward proposed to call a town committee meeting for Monday evening, Feb. 23, and notify fifteen or twenty representative taxpayers of the town to come there and discuss the amendments. This motion was carried, all the members concurring.

This adjourned meeting took place on Monday evening last and there were present some twenty gentlemen, besides the Town Committee. A debate of more than three hours duration ensued, the amendments having been read by Mr. Beach. The proposed changes in the law were favored by remarks from Messrs. Beach, Ward, Turner, Oakes and Dodd, Messrs. Sanxay, Cook and Weaver opposed the changes.

Mr. Sanxay objected upon the ground that the people, who passed upon the original law, were not consulted as to the amendments, in a public meeting.

Mr. Turner said he was, at the time of passing upon the law last winter, in favor of it, but subsequently changed his mind, as did many others when they came fully to understand the provisions of the law. He stated that a very large public meeting, comprising our best citizens, was held just before the lamps were lighted, but the Town Committee disregarded the action of that meeting; Mr. Sanxay replied that the first meeting, at which the gas law was adopted, was regularly and legitimately called by the Town Committee; that the later meeting spoken of by the gentleman was a partizan meeting, called by some very respectable citizens, but who were opposed to the introduction of gas, therefore the Town Committee could not recognize such a meeting.

Mr. Turner felt insulted at these assertions in regard to the meeting, and denied that it was a partizan meeting. The controversy at this juncture grew warm. The publisher of The Record at the request of Mr. Beach, produced from files of that newspaper a copy containing the call of the meeting, which showed that it was called by several leading citizens, inviting their fellow-citizens and taxpayers to "come one and all" to consider the question of the introduction of gas.

A vote was taken to ascertain the opinion of those present upon the amendments. The vote resulted in 9 for and 5 against them. The following are the proposed amendments:

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That hereafter it shall not be lawful for the township committee of said township of Bloomfield to put up, erect and place upon any of the roads, streets and highways of said township or any part or parts thereof our lamps, posts, lamps, burners and the necessary apparatus for lighting the streets with gas except upon the application in writing of a majority of the land-owners upon such road, street or highway or the part thereof so to be lighted.

2. And be it enacted, That the expense of putting up and erecting such lamp-posts, lamps, burners and apparatus shall be added by tax as provided in the sixth section of the Act entitled an act to authorize the township committee of the township of Bloomfield to light the street of said township approved the fourth day of February eighteen hundred and seventy three, and that hereafter all sum or sums of money that shall be necessary to be expended for lighting the roads, streets and highways within any lamp district or districts in said township shall be assessed upon the land and real estate upon the lines of said streets, roads or highways, or such part or parts thereof as may be so lighted, with assessment to include lands extending back from the line thereof 200 feet, and also any buildings or hereditaments pertaining to said street though over 200 feet distant therefrom. And that the assessor of the said township shall keep the accounts so assessed for the lighting of streets separate from the other taxes raised in said township and shall be allowed one cent a name for such additional service.

3. And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed, but nothing herein contained shall be construed as to affect the collection of any tax heretofore levied as assessed under any act or parts of an act so repealed.

Having been decidedly opposed to certain provisions of the gaslight law, especially the taxing of personal property, we cannot but favor all amendments which may tend somewhat to relieve its objectionable features. Unselfish citizens must admit that nothing is fairer than to submit to the taxpayers and land-owners upon a street the question whether they shall have it lighted, or not, and to allow them exclusively to pay for the improvement. This is the basis of our street improvement and sidewalk laws, and why should there be an exception as to gas? Especially when we reflect that paved roads and walks are necessities while the gas is a luxury.

Not only do we cordially endorse the amendments already proposed, but would suggest for consideration one or two others which might be incorporated. There should be a limit of time to not more than one or two years in contracting for lighting. There should also be a limit as to the price of the lighting material furnished, so that the township shall not be compelled to pay, at all events, more than individuals. The people have a reasonable right that the law for this purpose should have some points in their favor. We fail to find much in the law, as it now stands, favorable to the town of Bloomfield. It is altogether a one-sided affair. The people of Bloomfield are blind to their present and prospective interests if they do not take definite action, before it is too late, to avert a load of taxation from this source, compared with which that of this year will shrink into insignificance.

Gaiety on Linden Avenue.

On Monday evening last, the 23d inst., Mrs. James L. Walsh of Linden avenue, the recipient of a very pleasant surprise, tendered by the members and under the auspices of the Harmonic Society of Bloomfield. The affair had been the subject of conversation for some weeks past among those specially interested and consequently nothing was left undone to add to the evening's entertainment. It was a genuine and grand success.

At about 9 o'clock Mr. R. N. Dodd's spacious "Carry-all" deposited the joyous party at the above lady's residence, which they soon took complete possession of. Mrs. Walsh was specially summoned to appear, having been invited elsewhere by one of the knowing ones to spend the evening, and upon her return to the house great was her surprise at being greeted by so many smiling faces and laughing voices. The evening was diversified with dancing, reading, instrumental and vocal music and games, the latter being the source of much merriment and fun. The festivities were prolonged to an early hour Tuesday morning, and it was with reluctance that the party bade the final farewell.

The ride home was enlivened by chorus singing, rich and character in sound, which doubtless caused many a languid head to rise for a moment and wonder what operative troops had taken possession of the town, for it is but pertinent here to remark that the Harmonic Society, although young and tender in years, is strong in talent. In it are voices that bid fair to equal if not surpass those of Lucca, Patti, or Nilsson, Testa, Carey, or Vanandti, Campanini, Wachtel, or Tambrlik, Mairle, Santley or Bellini, Hermanns, Susini, or Fornes. Even Rubenstein and Wieniawski will have to look to their laurels, as the worthy and honored President of this organization bids fair to distance them in the race for histrionic favors, so expert is he in his mastery of the Piano. It is pleasant to record the success and advancement of an organization like the one under review, as the day is not far distant when it will take rank with the New York Vocal Society, and others equally as eminent and renowned.

Dry Transit in Bloomfield.

Mr. Editor: Much has been said and printed friendly and otherwise concerning the spectre-looking posts that stand as so many sentinels around our village Park. Since the sidewalk question seems undetermined, or at least the laying of it, not undertaken, permit a suggestion regarding the practical use to which said posts may be put. Let our Town Committee expend the remainder of the appropriation for Park improvements in constructing a promenade on the top of the posts. Frame a cross-piece, of suitable length, on each post, with a brace underneath, and a double row of planks above, and step it each end of the walk; and there you have it, neat, simple, above snow and mud—the grade controversy forever put at rest. Nothing could compare with this side of the "New York Elevated Railway." Should this plan be adopted, letters, patent may be obtained, securing to our town all benefits accruing; the inventor surrenders all right and title to the innovative. What a moving spectacle to all beholders the promenade would present of a calm Sunday morning, for instance, wending their way, passing and repassing to and from the several churches in our village; a great moral panorama, as it were!

Give us your powerful aid, Mr. Editor, in urging forward this grand but unique improvement.

BLOOMFIELD, FEB. 25TH.

Ladies' Relief Society.

At the meeting of the "Ladies' Relief Committee of Bloomfield," held at the residence of Mrs. Jason Crane, on the 23d inst., the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the ladies of the Relief Committee of Bloomfield are persuaded that the greatest kindness that can be shown the poor of this place will be to 'help them who help themselves,' Therefore,

Resolved, That record be kept of the name and address of such persons as are willing and able to go out to work, or to do work at home.

The Committee would ask the kind patronage of the ladies of Bloomfield who require seamstresses, wash-women, or housekeepers. They may be obtained by making application to the President, Mrs. James A. Hadden, who will be at home on Wednesday of each week to receive such applications. The object of the above is to help those persons who are willing to work, if they could find employment, rather than to become a charity or drag upon the resources of a benevolent people. It is presumed there is no lady in this town who would not encourage such a praiseworthy object, and thus institute habits of industry and thrift, among a class of discouraged suffering creatures.

Let the ladies of Bloomfield co-operate with us in this work, that it may become a complete reformation; that cheerful home firesides may take the place of dismal ones, encouraged hearts for those in despair. That He who sees the hearts, and judges the works of his creatures will say "well done good and faithful servants."

A meeting of the officers and managers will be held at the residence of Miss Anna L. Ward, on Tuesday, March 3d at 3 o'clock P. M.

Mrs. R. N. Dodd, Sec'y.

Bloomfield merchants receiving orders from the above-named Society will please send in their bills on Monday of each week. MISS A. L. WARD, TREAS.

Dr. Susan Everett in New York.

Dr. Everett is delivering a course of Lectures in Robinson Hall, New York. A metropolitan paper says her auditors are evidently women who have given more time to studying the quality of lace and the cut of the body's coverings than they have to its mysterious ducts and multitudinous pores, with which Dr. Everett is familiar.

A bewildered individual of the stronger sex, a gentleman person, straggled in Tuesday afternoon in the midst of one of Dr. Everett's interesting illustrations of the mannikin. School girls on the back seats whispered, "Put him out," and the whole assemblage feeling disturbed, the masculine creature was gently informed that he was out of place. Dr. Everett then showed the sensitiveness of the stomach's mucous membrane on the unexpected intrusion of a green pickle.

After her lecture, Dr. Everett read and answered a number of written questions which had been handed up. One was: "How can I improve my memory, which is very defective?" "Eat oat-meal porridge," responded Mrs. Everett; and thereupon related a story of a clergyman from whom she received an expression of thanks for the improved sermons he had been able to write, since her lectures three months before, which his wife had attended, and since which he had lived mainly on oat-meal and bean soup, to improve the quality of his brains.

Another question was: "Tell me how to go to sleep at night. I am troubled." Dr. Everett recommended that after some sanitary bathing, rubbing, or swathing to count a hundred long, full breaths. The speaker compared the clothing of men and women by likening a man's shoulder in a cold day to a pin cushion. You could stick in a pin a long depth; but not thus on the shoulder of a woman.

The Newark and Bloomfield Horse Car R. R. Co. propose to abandon their present route from Bloomfield to Newark. An application was made at the last Town Committee meeting to run cars on Bloomfield avenue, and with the consent of the town authority, it is the intention of the company to lay the rails at once.

The Missionary Society of the Westminster Church will hold a public meeting in the Chapel next Sabbath evening commencing at 7 o'clock. The exercises will consist of a concert exercise on Prayer participated in by the scholars, reading of a letter from the Missionary toward whose support the Society contributes, &c.

An interesting lecture is to be given in the Methodist Church on Monday evening next, by Rev. Robert Cameron, of New York. His subject will be "Jewish Tabernacles." All who are studying the Uniform Lesson Series should be present.

The Ladies Temperance Union of Elizabeth intend to begin a war against the liquor dealers of that city, and they have already warned the saloon-keepers to prepare for their visits.

The creditors of St. John's R. C. Church of Orange held a meeting on Tuesday, at which they resolved to waive $50,000 of their claims. Five thousand dollars have already been subscribed toward liquidating the Church's debt.

New Jersey Legislature.

The House on Tuesday voted to repeal the bill for a free road between Newark and Jersey City. This repeal has been actively pressed by Hudson county, and opposed by Newark, which through its Common Council adopted resolutions on the subject. Messrs. Doernum and Halsey however favored it, and it was passed 36 to 13.

Jay Gould testified before the Committee on Railroads and Canals to answer to inquiries relative to his connection with the Southern railroad. He stated that he was about $600,000 short in his connection with the Southern railroad, being the sum which he had advanced.

The amended Franklin township bill introduced by T. S. Henry, has excited an animated contest in the Third House. It proposes to straighten the dividing line between Belleville and Franklin, the new boundaries being to set off to Franklin all that portion of Belleville north of a line commencing at a point where the lands of W. H. Conover and Capt. J. W. Hancock join at the lands of Horace Messler, and thence running in a direct line and a southwesterly course to the southeasterly corner of lands belonging to Abram Van Winkle and the Bloomfield township line, and thence along the dividing line of the townships of Belleville and Bloomfield until it intersects the dividing line of the townships of Belleville and Franklin.

A bill was introduced on Tuesday which provides that the wives and mothers of all soldiers, marines, sailors and colored troops who served in the United States army and were credited to the quota of this State, shall be entitled to the benefits held out in a supplement, passed in 1865, to an act of 1861 relating to this subject.

The Free Employment Bureau, 135 Bowery, New York City, offers its services gratis to parties wishing to employ male help. Contractors, mill and mine owners, would do well to avail themselves of this privilege thus offered. Parties wishing to employ men in large numbers can be supplied on one day's notice. In all cases it is expected that the employers shall pay transportation to the place of work; and when several men are ordered, it is advisable that the employers should come to the city in order to ensure the safe delivery of men. The Bureau is under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and is designed to furnish employers with male help of all kinds free of charge. In 1873, 734 situations were furnished. Correspondence on the subject promptly answered. Address Rev. John Dooley, Gen. Sec'y., 134 Bowery, N. Y.

Notice.

At a meeting held a few evenings since by a number of friends of the Temperance cause, it was decided to notify the various hotel and saloon keepers, through the village newspaper, that unless they stop the sale of intoxicating drinks on Sundays, immediately, that legal proceedings will be commenced against them in the Courts.
